

Joan L. Richards, Ph.D.

Professor of the History of Science

Brown University

PROJECT

A Study of Mathematics in England, 1830-1859

TUESDAY COLLOQUIUM, 11.06.1996

Establishing Boundaries: Placing Knowledge in Victorian England

PUBLICATIONS FROM THE FELLOWS' LIBRARY

Richards, Joan L. (New York, NY [u.a.], 2000)

Angles of reflection : logic and a mother's love

<https://kxp.k1oplus.de/DB=9.663/PPNSET?PPN=1607947234>

Richards, Joan L. (1992)

God, truth, and mathematics in nineteenth century England

<https://kxp.k1oplus.de/DB=9.663/PPNSET?PPN=865268339>

Richards, Joan L. (Dordrecht [u.a.], 1992)

The invention of physical science : intersections of mathematics, theology and natural philosophy since the seventeenth century; essays in honor of Erwin N. Hiebert

<https://kxp.k1oplus.de/DB=9.663/PPNSET?PPN=272571083>

Boston studies in the philosophy of science ; 139

<https://kxp.k1oplus.de/DB=9.663/PPNSET?PPN=272571083>

Richards, Joan L. (1991)

Rigor and clarity : foundations of mathematics in France and England, 1800-1840

<https://kxp.k1oplus.de/DB=9.663/PPNSET?PPN=786523034>